

Dietary supplements

To ensure human diets are proper and balanced they have to be supplemented with chemicals which used to be eaten in natural products. As is widely noted in the literature, inorganic salts are the key products in this industry for correcting and reinforcing our diet.

The quality, traceability and regulation of these products as a food additive are crucial (FCC and European Regulations). As manufacturers we can adapt to the most demanding requirements.